

Efa Beri junior school is situated in the town of Addis Alem with around 2000 students attending spread over a morning and afternoon shift.

For-ethiopia has been working with Efa Beri since day one and has built up a good relationship. Regular discussions with the school committee keep us up to date with its progress and needs.

In 2007 to help equip the school library, eight tables, sixty chairs and four bookshelf units were supplied.

Reference books purchased locally and donated from the UK were also provided.

The existing toilet block at the school was insufficient for the large number of staff and students.

A new toilet block was constructed to provide toilet facilities for staff and female students leaving the existing block for the boys.

Strengthening the school link, the students of Efa Beri and St Joseph's, Bristol jointly designed our charity Christmas cards.

For-Ethiopia remains committed to supporting Efa Beri school.
